

“Shared Minds”*: Faculty and Students

Interdisciplinary Work at Pratt Institute

This forum will explore interdisciplinary work and its potential as a catalyst for social change through a range of efforts, both historical and current. The panel builds on interdisciplinary and social change initiatives such as Pratt's Master Academic Plan (MAP), the Pratt Center and Sustainable Pratt.

- What are the opportunities and constraints for interdisciplinary work?
- Is there a connection between interdisciplinary work and social justice?

Thursday, April 23
5:00-7:00 pm
in the Faculty Dining Room

Moderators:

Heather Lewis and Brynna Tucker, IACSC Co-Chairs

Panelists:

Anusha Venkataraman and Rebecca Hernandez
Student Experiences

Rosemary Palms and Amy Brook Snider
From Writing Across the Curriculum to The Journal Project.

Jim Costanzo and Ann Messner
Fine Arts and Social Change

Eva Hanhardt, Deb Johnson and Ayse Yonder
Sustainable Pratt

Discussant:

Victoria Hattam

Professor, Political Science, The New School

Sponsored by the Initiative for Arts, Community and Social Change (IACSC) with support from the Academic Senate.